Insider Trading Policy and Guidelines

1. Directors, executives, staff, and employees of the Company are prohibited from disclosing the Company's confidential and/ or inside information, or utilizing it to seek benefits for themselves or any other person, whether directly or indirectly, and regardless of whether they receive any compensation in return.
2. Directors, executives, staff, and employees of the Company, including their spouses and minor children, are prohibited from using the Company's inside information that has or may have an impact on the price of the Company's securities and has not yet been disclosed to the public, to buy, sell, offer to buy, offer to sell, or persuade others to buy, sell, offer to buy, or offer to sell the Company's securities, whether directly or indirectly, before such information is disclosed to the public. This applies whether such acts are committed for the benefit of themselves or others, or to cause others to commit such acts in exchange for benefits. Any violator will be subject to the Company's disciplinary action.
3. The Company has informed executives to ensure they understand and acknowledge their obligations to report their holdings of the Company's securities, including those of their spouses and minor children, as well as to report any changes in such securities holdings to the Office of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) in accordance with Section 59 and the penal provisions under the Securities and Exchange Act B.E. 2535 (1992).
4. The Company prohibits its directors, executives, staff, and employees, including their spouses and minor children, from trading the Company's securities during the 30 day period prior to the disclosure of the quarterly and annual financial statements, and within 24 hours after the disclosure of such financial statements, as well as during any other periods that the Company may specify from time to time. The Company has accordingly informed its directors, executives, staff, and employees of the aforementioned requirements.
